PREFACE.

The object in offering this work, which will be the initial volume of a proposed annual publication, is to comply with a long-felt necessity to spread among the people an amount of information concerning our own State, the great Prairie State of Illinois, which will be most interesting to all, and very valuable and almost indispensable to many. The information contained in this book was very carefully collected, partly from the different State departments and from the county officials, and partly from the heads of the different State institutions and from other reliable sources.

The intention of the compiler to issue the first publication of The Illinois Hand-Book as early as 1870, was not finally decided upon until about eight weeks before its completion, and therefore it could not be made as complete as desirable, but it will undoubtedly be acceptable for the present, and until the next issue is published, and will be, as intended, a valuable book of reference for lawyers, county officers, business men, and the public in general.

The book is arranged in two parts. Part I. gives some interesting information regarding our National Government, while Part II. is exclusively devoted to the State of Illinois and its government, accompanied by the portraits of the present State officers, engravings of the new State House and National Lincoln Monument, now being constructed in Springfield; of the former Home of Abraham Lincoln, the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, the Illinois Industrial University, and of other State Institutions, and by three maps giving the Counties and the Senatorial and Representative Districts of Illinois.

The information contained in this work regarding the different State, county, and other officers, and the statistical information, is correct and reliable, up to the dates given in the proper places.

The thanks of the Compiler are due to the State officers; the Superintendents and Presidents of the different State Institutions; to Messrs. E. L. & W. L. Gross, compilers of the latest Statutes of Illinois; and to the Clerks of the different counties of the State, for furnishing valuable information for this book; also, to Jos. Wallace, Esq., for the historical sketch of Illinois.

PART I.

THE UNITED STATES.

FORMATION OF THE ORIGINAL UNION.

On Monday, the 5th of September, 1774, there were assembled at Carpenter's Hall, in the city of Philadelphia, a number of men who had been chosen and appointed by the several colonies in North America to hold a Congress for the purpose of discussing certain grievances imputed against the mother country. This Congress resolved, on the next day, that each colony should have one vote only. On Tuesday, the 2d July, 1776, the Congress resolved, "That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be. Free and Independent States," etc., etc.; and on Thursday, the 4th of July, the whole Declaration of Independence having been agreed upon, it was publicly read to the people. Shortly after, on the 9th September, it was resolved that the words "United Colonies" should be no longer used, and that the "United States of America" should thenceforward be the style and title of the Union. On Saturday, the 15th November, 1777, "Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union of the United States of America" were agreed to by the State delegates, subject to the ratification of the State legislatures severally. Eight of the States ratified these articles on the 9th July, 1778; one on the 21st July; one on the 24th July; one on the 26th November of the same year; one on the 22d February, 1779;

and the last one on the 1st of March, 1781. Here was a bond of union between thirteen independent States, whose delegates in Congress legislated for the general welfare, and executed certain powers so far as they were permitted by the articles aforesaid. The following are the names of the Presidents of the Continental Congress from 1774 to 1788:

Peyton Randolph, Virginia	5th	Sept	1774
Henry Middleton, South Carolina	22d	Oct.,

The seat of government was established as follows: At Philadelphia, Pa., commencing September 5, 1774, and May 10, 1775; at Baltimore, Md., December 20, 1776; at Philadelphia, Pa., March 4, 1777; at Lancaster, Pa., September 27, 1777; at York, Pa., September 30, 1777; at Philadelphia, Pa., July 2, 1778; at Princeton, N. J., June 30, 1783; at Annapolis, Md., November 26, 1783; at Trenton, N. J., November 1, 1784; and at New York City, N. Y., Jan. 11, 1785.

On the 4th of March, 1789, the present Constitution, which had been adopted by a convention and ratified by the requisite number of States, went into operation.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these, are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly, all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while the evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having, in direct object, the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world:

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature; a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the mean time, exposed to all the danger of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose, obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined, with others, to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment, for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the powers of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coast, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction, of all ages, sexes, and conditions. In every stage of these oppressions, we have petitioned for redress, in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts made by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in GENERAL CONGRESS assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which INDE-PENDENT STATES may of right do. And, for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of DIVINE PROVIDENCE, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

CONSTITUTION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WE, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

2. Immediately after they shall be assembled, in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year. And if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

Qualifications of the Senators.

3. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

Of the Vice President.

4. The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

Of the Officers of the Senate.

5. The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

Of Impeachment.

- 6. The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside. And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.
- 7. Judgment, in case of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit, under the United States; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

Manner of Electing Members of Congress.

SEC. IV. 1. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed by each State, by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing Senators.

Of the Meetings of Congress.

2. Congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Powers of each House.

SEC. V. 1. Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of the absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide.

Expulsion.

2. Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Journals and Yeas and Nays.

3. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of members of either House, on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Of Adjournment.

4. Neither House, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Exclusion from Office.

2. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office.

Revenue Bills.

SEC. VII. 1. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

Manner of Passing Bills, &c.

2. Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to re-consider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be re-considered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by year and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Orders, Resolutions, and Votes.

3. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the President of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of bills.

General Powers of Congress.

Sec. VIII. Congress shall have power:

1. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

- 2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

- 17. To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the authority of the Legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and

18. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

Limitations of the Powers of Congress.

- SEC. IX. 1. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

Limitations of the Powers of the Individual States.

SEC. X. 1. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque or reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

2. No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of Congress. No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty on tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

Altered.—See amendments, Article XII.

3. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot, for two persons, of whom one, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for Presdent; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of the votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the Vice President.

This clause is altogether altered and supplied by the XIIth amendment.

PART II.

STATE OF ILLINOIS.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF ILLINOIS.

[Written especially for this book, by Jos. Wallace, Esq.]

To write an elaborate history of Illinois, faithfully tracing its early settlement—its struggles for existence—its frontier wars and mobs—its growing and spreading population—its rising institutions of learning and charity—its extended system of internal improvements—its wonderful advances in political power and influence, in wealth and social development—and lastly its part in our recent civil convulsion, would require a large volume. Such a history remains to be written; and it may be hoped that, ere long, some gifted son of the Prairie State will undertake the work, and do ample justice to a subject fraught with such deep and varied interest.

'In the limited space allotted to the writer of the present article, he can only give a succinct, and somewhat disconnected, outline of the history of this great commonwealth.

Illinois, the fourth State in point of wealth and population in the American Union, is centrally situated in the great valley of the Mississippi. It extends from about 37° to 42° 30′ north latitude, and from 87° 35′ to 91° 40′ west longitude from Greenwich. Its extreme length is on the meridian of Cairo, being 378 miles. Its average breadth is about 150 miles, and its greatest breadth 210 miles. It contains 55,405 square miles, or 35,459,200 acres of land. Compared with other States, it has 10,000 more square miles than the great States of New York and Ohio, and is nearly as large as all the New England States taken together. Its surface is generally level or slightly undulating, and it has no elevation of more than eight hundred feet above the level of the sea.

The boundaries of Illinois, assigned by the act of Congress providing for her admission into the Union, passed April 18th, 1818, are as follows:

"Beginning at the mouth of the Wabash river, thence up the same, and with the line of Indiana to the northwest corner of said State; thence east with the line of the same State to the middle of Lake Michigan; thence north along the middle of said lake to north latitude 42° and 30′; thence west to the middle of the Mississippi river; thence down along the middle of that river to its confluence with the Ohio river; and thence up the latter river, along its northwestern shore, to the place of beginning."

In the latter part of the 17th century, Illinois was first explored by the French missionaries and fur traders, and some forts and trading posts were established by them.

To Father Marquette, a bold, zealous, and indefatigable Jesuit missionary, is mainly due the honor of having discovered and explored the Mississippi river, and the country lying adjacent to its banks. It is true that De Soto, the Spanish adventurer, had succeeded, in 1541, in penetrating from Florida, through the dense wilderness of the South, to the lower waters of the Mississippi; but he died on its banks in the following year, and the shattered remnant of his expedition, after enduring incredible hardships, built themselves boats in which they sailed down the river, and returned to Cuba. Thus, if the Spanish had first seen and crossed the Mississippi, it was without knowing its name, or having any adequate idea of the vast country watered by it.

Early in June, 1673, Father Marquette, and his companion, Joliet, left the region of Green Bay, and made their way westward, through trackless forests, to the Wisconsin river. Here they embarked in two slender birch canoes, with five boatmen to row them, and commenced their memorable and perilous voyage. On the 15th of June they came in sight of the great "Father of Waters;" and thence descended upon its broad bosom until they reached a point near the mouth of the Des Moines, where they landed and encamped. Discovering the tracks of Indians on the sandy shore, Marquette and Joliet left their boats, and followed the trail on the Iowa side in quest of the savages. Coming upon the Indian camp at the distance of some six miles from the river, they were presented with the calumet of peace, and hospitably entertained by those rude sons of the plains. They proved to be a part of a confederation of tribes, who passed under the collective name of "Illinois," and who then occupied the greater portion of the Illinois country. The more warlike Iroquois, however, had driven them from their hunting-grounds in the northern districts.

After resting at this place for some days, and procuring much needed information, together with a new supply of provisions, Marquette and his associates bade adieu to their new found friends, and continued their descent of the mighty river. Passing the heights of Alton, the mouth of the turbid Missouri, and the site of St. Louis, their next landing was made at the mouth of the Ohio, which they mistook for the Wabash. From thence they sailed leisurely down until they reached the mouth of the Arkansas, in the vicinity of which De Soto is supposed to have previously crossed the Mississippi. The season being now well advanced, the heat oppressive, and the natives of the country hostilely inclined, they determined to proceed no further; but rested for a time, and then began to retrace their steps. Entering the Illinois river on their return, they followed up its devious course as far perhaps as LaSalle, and from thence journeyed overland, via Chicago, back to Green Bay, at which place they arrived about the end of September. Marquette and Joliet had been absent about three months, and during that time they had traveled more than three thousand miles, through regions never before visited by white men. After this great journey, Marquette prosecuted his travels and labors among the aborigines of the Northwest for about two years, when he died and was buried somewhere upon the shore of Lake Michigan; but the place of his interment is not determined.

In 1679, the brave and enterprising LaSalle—a name justly celebrated in the early annals of America—visited the Illinois country from Canada. His company consisted of Louis Hennepin, a Franciscan friar, and thirty-four men. They made their way to the southern end of Lake Michigan, up the Chicago river, and down the Des Plaines and the Illinois. They wintered on the banks of the latter stream, at Peoria lake, and built a fort there. They called this fort Creve Cœur, or Heart-break, either on account of the misfortunes they suffered here, or from the circumstance of its having been the site of a bloody battle between the Iroquois and Illinois Indians, in which the latter had been defeated with a loss of eight hundred warriors.

Leaving Father Hennepin with instructions to ascend the Mississippi to its source, LaSalle returned to Canada to obtain supplies and reinforcements. The Father departed from Creve Cour with only two companions to carry out his instructions. He reached the Mississippi in March, 1680, and, according to his own account, not only ascended the river to the Falls of St. Anthony, but first decended it to its mouth. The story of his descent of the river, however, is generally discredited. LaSalle re-visited the country in 1683, and founded some villages and trading stations. He subsequently returned to France, and fitted out a new expedition with a view of establishing settlements near the mouth of the Mississippi. He set sail upon his ill-fated enterprise in the month of August, 1684. Steering too far west to reach the mouth of the Mississippi, he landed in a small bay which he named St. Louis, but which is now called St. Bernard. Losing one of his vessels at the entrance of this bay, he finally succeeded in landing his followers on the banks of the Guadaloupe, in the present State of Texas, where he erected a fort. LaSalle made several attempts to reach Illinois by an overland route from this place, but the obstacles were too great to be surmounted. His death, which took place in the southwestern wilderness, was as tragic as his life had been heroic. He was treacherously waylaid and slain by one of his own men, and now sleeps in a nameless grave. The present city of LaSalle, as also the county, were so named in honor of him.

The oldest existing settlement in Illinois is Kaskaskia, situated on the river Kaskaskia, at the southern end of what is known as the American Bottom. It is said by some authorities to have been founded by Marquette, in 1673; but this is probably an error, arising out of the fact that he first visited the country in that year, and established a mission among the Indians of that name. It seems more probable that the town was founded by La-Salle on his second trip to Illinois, in the year 1683.

Following in the order of missionary succession after Marquette, came Fathers Alloney, Pinet, Rasles, Gravier, Marest, and others. Father Pinet founded Cahokia. He also preached with great success at Kaskaskia.

Other French settlers trod in the footsteps of these devoted and self-sacrificing priests, and, in process of time, considerable villages grew up in this genial region, facing the trading station which LaClede had built on the western bank of the Mississippi, and called St. Louis. Many of the French intermarried with the Indians, and, assimilating themselves to their indolent habits, led easy and unambitious lives. These towns are now, for the most part, sadly decayed. They have been far outstripped in the march of civilization, and possess little to remind one of their ancient importance, save their names, and the historical associations that cluster around them.

By the year 1720, the French had established a continuous chain of communication, extending from Canada, through Illinois, to the Gulf of Mexico. The entire northwestern country was claimed by France, until the treaty of 1763, when it was ceded, together with the Canadas, to the British crown. In 1765, Capt. Starling, of the Royal Highlanders, took possession of Illinois, and was followed by other commanders.

During the Revolutionary War, the Virginia militia, under Gen. Clarke, subjugated Fort Chartres, near Kaskaskia, and conducted a successful expedition against Port Vincent, now Vincennes.

The Illinois country constituted a part of the great Northwestern Territory, which, after passing under the jurisdiction of Great Britain, belonged to the Province of Virginia, and was ceded by her to the United States in 1783. Illinois was included in the Terrritory of Indiana as organized in 1800. But it was separated and formed into a distinct Territory, and the provisions of the Ordinance of 1787 extended over it by an act of Congress of Feb. 3d, 1809. Kaskaskia became the capital of the new Territory, and Ninian Edwards, a native of Maryland, who had formerly been Chief Justice of Kentucky, was appointed Governor.

On the 3d of December, 1818, the Territory of Illinois, having formed a State Constitution, was admitted into the Union as the twenty-second State. Shadrach Bond was elected the first Governor, and Ninian Edwards and Jesse B. Thomas were the first United States Senators.

In 1800, the white population of Illinois was 3,000 souls; in 1810 it had increased to 12,000, and in 1818 to about 45,000. Some three thousand of these were descendants of the old French settlers, inhabiting the villages of Kaskaskia, Cahokia, Prairie DuRocher, Prarie DuPont, and Peoria. The American residents were chiefly from Virginia, Kentucky, and Pennsylvania.

At the adjourned session of the first General Assembly, which met in the winter of 1818–19, an act was passed providing for the removal of the seat of government of the State from Kaskaskia. Commissioners were appointed to select a new site, who made choice of a place then in the wilderness, on the upper waters of the winding Kaskaskia, which they called Vandalia. Here the capital remained for twenty years, when it was removed to Springfield.

It is a noteworthy circumstance that the first political excitement in Illinois grew out of the agitation of that old, irrepressible, and always mischievous question of slavery. During the session of the Legislature of 1822-'3, a resolution was passed by the requisite two-thirds vote, providing for the calling of a convention to amend the Constitution so as to permit the introduction of slavery, and thus make Illinois a slave State. But before the convention could meet, it had to be sanctioned by a majority of all the votes cast at the next election for members of the Legislature. The contest which ensued over this question was long, angry, and exciting in the extreme. The people, as well as their political leaders, took an absorbing interest in its discussion, and were nearly equally divided in sentiment. As this was long prior to the anti-slavery agitation of later times, those who resisted the introduction of slavery did so simply on the grounds of policy and expediency. The struggle lasted from the spring of 1823, until the August election of 1824, when the people decided, by a majority of about 2,000, in favor of a free State.

In the summer of 1827, during the administration of Governor Edwards, the first Indian disturbance occurred in the State, after the war of 1812. This was known as the Winnebago war. The white settlers had begun to overrun the lands of the Winnebagoes in the lead bearing region above Galena; many of the miners having pushed their searches for mineral as far north as the Wisconsin river. This was the chief cause of the difficulty. The war was of no long duration, being soon terminated by the vigilance and activity of General Atkinson, of the United States army, and without any considerable loss of life.

By the year 1830, the population of the State had grown to 157,-447. It had spread north from Alton to Peoria, principally on the rivers and creeks, where the timber abounded; and in such places there were settlers sparsely scattered along the border of the Mississippi river to Galena; also on the Illinois as far as Chicago, with long intervals of wilderness between; and a few settlements were scattered about over the southern part of the Military Tract. The country on the Sangamon river had been settled, and likewise the interior of the south, leaving a large wilderness tract still to be peopled between Galena and Chicago; the whole of the Fox and Rock river countries; and also the lands in the northeast, along the Kankakee, Vermilion, and other streams, comprising more than one-third of the area of the State. But few settlements were made in the open prairie anywhere, until after the introduction of railroads.

In 1831, hostilities were commenced by the Indians in the Rock river country, in the northwest part of the State. was the beginning of the Black Hawk war. It appears that a treaty had been made by Gen. Harrison, at St. Louis, in 1804, with the chiefs of the Sacs and Fox Indians, by which they had ceded to the United States all their lands on Rock river. This treaty was confirmed by a part of the tribes, in a treaty with Gov. Edwards and Auguste Chouteau, in 1815, and by another part with the same commissioners, in 1816. The United States had caused some of these lands, situate near the mouth of the river. to be surveyed and sold, and the purchasers from the Government had moved upon them, and made considerable improvements. Meanwhile, the principal part of the Indians had removed to the west of the Mississippi. But there was an old chief of the Sacs, called Mucata, or Black Hawk, who denied the validity of these treaties, and under this pretense resisted the removal of his tribe to the West.

Accordingly, in the spring of 1831, he recrossed the Mississippi with his women and children, and about 300 warriors, to establish himself on his ancient hunting grounds, and in the principal village of his nation. The white settlers being driven off, their property destroyed, and their lives threatened, they appealed to Governor Reynolds for protection.

He immediately wrote to Gen. Gaines, of the United States army, and to General Clark, the Superintendent of Indian affairs, to use the influence of the Government to procure the peaceful removal of the Indians, if possible. Gen. Gaines repaired to Rock Island with a few companies of regular soldiers, and soon ascertained that the Indians were bent on war. He immediately called upon Gov. Reynolds for 700 mounted volunteers. The Governor promptly issued a call upon the central and northern counties, in obedience to which 1,500 volunteers marched to his standard at Beardstown. This force was organized and placed under the command of Gen. Duncan, of the State militia, who proceeded at once to Rockport, on the Mississippi, where he was met by Gen. Gaines. No sooner had the Indians ascertained the formidable army in the field against them, than they abandoned their village and crossed to the western side of the Mississippi river. Learning that Gen. Gaines threatened to pursue them across the river, Black Hawk and his braves sued for peace. A treaty was here formed with them, by which they agreed to remain on the west side of the Mississippi, and never to recross it without the consent of the President, or the Governor of the State.

But the provisions of this treaty were soon violated; and in the spring of 1832, Black Hawk and the disaffected Indians again crossed the Mississippi, and took up their line of march for the Rock river region. The alarm now became general along the entire northern frontier; many of the white settlers abandoned their homes and fled to the south for protection, and a general war with the savages was apprehended.

Gov. Reynolds issued another requisition for troops, when 1,800 volunteers responded. This force was placed under the command of Gen. Whiteside, and on the 27th of April, accompanied by Gov. Reynolds, he set out for Rock river—the theatre of hostilities.

Without entering into details as to the plan of the campaign, suffice it to say that the war was prosecuted with considerable vigor, and varied success, until finally terminated by the decisive battles of Wisconsin Heights and Bad Axe river, fought in the latter part of July of that year. These engagements took place in the Territory of Wisconsin, whither the Indians had retreated after being driven out of Illinois. Black Hawk, his son, and the Prophet of the tribe, were soon afterwards captured and brought to the camp of Gen. Atkinson. They were subsequently taken to Washington, where they had an interview with President Jackson. These Indian prisoners were returned to their own country west of the Mississippi, by order of the President, in 1833. Black Hawk died in 1840, at the advanced age of eighty years. He was a cunning, sagacious, and determined chief—who had sided with the British in the war of 1812, and who, cordially hating the Americans, resisted to the last their continued encroachments upon the hunting grounds of his fathers.

After the Black Hawk war, nothing of importance transpired until the session of the Legislature of 1832–3, which was distinguished for the first efforts made to construct railroads in Illinois. Several charters were passed incorporating railroad companies, and an effort was made to procure a charter for a railroad, instead of a canal, from Lake Michigan to the Illinois river. But little stock, however, was ever taken in these companies.

The first railroad actually completed and put in operation, was between Jacksonville and Meredosia on the Illinois river, in 1840. In the spring of the next year it was extended to Springfield. This was the beginning of that vast and complex system of railways which now stretches over the State in every direction—amounting in the aggregate to some 4,000 miles.

As early as 1821, the Legislature appropriated $10,000 for a survey of the route of the Illinois and Michigan canal. In 1825, a law was passed incorporating a company to build it; but the stock was never taken, and nothing effectual was accomplished until 1835. The work was at last commenced in June, 1836, and completed in 1845, at a cost to the State of over $10,000,000. Its value and efficiency, both in a commercial and military point of view, will be vastly enhanced when it shall be enlarged so as to permit the passage of steam vessels, and thus open an easy channel of navigation from the Lakes, down the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, to the Gulf of Mexico.

Between the years 1836 and 1841, Illinois became heavily involved in debt, in consequence of having loaned her credit to various schemes of internal improvement, and to establish a State Bank and branches. The internal improvement system exploded; the banks failed; the bonds of the State suffered a heavy decline, and business of every kind was utterly prostrated.

Financial embarrassment and commercial ruin was the order of the day, and all healthy growth and prosperity was at an end. These financial difficulties seem to have culminated about the year 1842, at which time the debt of the State amounted to $14,000,000. In that year, Thomas Ford was elected Governor.

During his able administration, a series of measures were brought forward in the Legislature (chiefly at his suggestion) which, becoming laws, restored the fallen credit of the Commonwealth, gave a new impetus to trade and agriculture, and revived the drooping hopes of the people.

In the years 1839–40, the Mormons, having been driven out of Missouri, came to Illinois, and settled at a place on the Mississippi river in Hancock county, afterwards called Nauvoo. In 1841, this place was incorporated as a city, and Joe Smith, the Mormon prophet, was elected mayor. In a very few years the city embraced a heterogeneous population of 15,000; and the building of a magnificent temple was commenced, at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. Everything went on prosperously with the Mormons for a while; they were regarded as a persecuted people, and their votes and influence were courted by the intriguing politicians of the day. But, true to their native instincts and previous history, they soon became embroiled in difficulties and litigation with their "gentile" neighbors. They first obstructed and resisted the local authorities of the county, and finally set at defiance the authority of the State.

At length, in 1844, their leader and prophet, Smith, was killed by a mob, and they, not long after, prepared to make their exit from the State. In the spring of 1846, the Mormons, to the number of 16,000, crossed the Mississippi and took up their line of march for the far West. Proceeding to Utah Territory, they founded the present city of Salt Lake, or "City of the Saints," as they term it.

After having recovered from her financial embarrassments—after the exodus of the Mormons and the subsidence of the mob spirit engendered by their presence, Illinois entered upon that career of material prosperity and development which has ever since distinguished her among her sister States.

In 1865, the population had swelled to 2,511,000, and it must now reach 3,000,000. Yet hardly more than one-fifth of the State is under actual cultivation; and when it is considered that she has less waste lands than any other State in the Union, some idea may be formed of the enormous population she is capable of supporting.

For a young State, Illinois can boast quite a number of large and flourishing cities. Springfield, the capital and shire-town of Sangamon county, is located near the centre of the State; being 184 miles southwest of Chicago, and 98 miles distant from St. Louis. This place was founded in 1818, and became the seat of Government in 1837. It is a substantial, well-built city, with a population of 20,000; and is distinguished by the wealth, refinement, and hospitality of its inhabitants.

The commercial metropolis of Illinois, and in fact of the Northwest, is Chicago, situated on Lake Michigan. In 1830, the site of the present city was surrounded and partially occupied by the Pottawatomie Indians. It was incorporated as a town in 1833, when it had only about two dozen inhabitants. In 1837, it was incorporated as a city; and its subsequent growth has been most remarkable. With its large accumulation of capital, its unrivalled commercial position, and the extent and fertility of the country by which it is surrounded, Chicago is destined to become the great central city of the continent.

At Jacksonville, the seat of justice of Morgan county, are located a number of the State Institutions—the Insane, the Deaf and Dumb, and the Blind Asylums. It is also the seat of the Illinois College and other institutions of learning.

Peoria, on the Illinois, and Quincy, on the Mississippi river, are cities of acknowledged beauty and importance; and, next to Chicago, are the largest in the State. The other principal cities are Alton, Belleville, Cairo, Shawneetown, Decatur, Bloomington, Danville, LaSalle, Ottawa, Joliet, Rock Island, and Galena.

We may not pause to speak of the conspicuous and brilliant part played by Illinois in the Mexican war, and in the late terrible civil war. Her sons have gone beyond the Rio Grande, up the heights of Buena Vista and Cerro Gordo, and into the valley of Mexico. They have been down the Mississippi, along the sea coast, and on the Potomac; indeed, wherever the smoke of battle was thickest, and the struggle fiercest, there have they been found, with brave hearts and strong arms, upholding the flag of the Union and Constitution.

It was intended in this sketch to notice the men who had been prominent in shaping the history and directing the politics of the State, and who had taken high and influential positions in the nation, but the subject is too extensive for our narrow limits. A long list of great names is to be found in the roll of the citizens of Illinois. Her early annals are emblazoned with such names as Edwards, Thomas, Pope, Kane, Cook, Phillips, Reynolds, Henry, Duncan, Casey, and others. Coming down to a later date, we find a host of worthies, of whom Ford, Hardin, Harris, Bissell, Breese, Kærner, Shields, Trumbull, McClernand, Browning, Richardson, Stuart, and Palmer are fitting types. But rising above all these in prominence are Lincoln, Douglas, and Baker—men who have stamped the impress of their genius and character not only upon the State of their adoption, and raised that State to a degree of political importance which it had never before known, but upon the whole country; and who, passing beyond the confines of time, have bequeathed to that country names which posterity will not willingly let die.

Governor John M. Palmer's Military Career.

[From the Western Monthly.]

In 1861 Gov. Palmer was a delegate to the Peace Convention which met at Washington; and, with the object of avoiding the dread result of war, went down into the valley of humility to attain the desired result. It is well known that all peace offorts were unsuccessful, as any would have been.

Upon the complete establishment of this now indubitable fact, Mr. Palmer was for war. He drew his sword and threw away the scabbard. Of his military history we have but space for the merest outline: On the second call of the General Government for troops, Mr. Palmer volunteered in the ranks. He was unanimously elected Colonel of the Fourteenth Illinois Infantry. After some time spent for drill and discipline at Jacksonville, the regiment moved to Northern Missouri. The command was well occupied, and took part in sundry marches and expeditions, but had no actual battle during the year. Col. Palmer had been much of the time in command of a brigade, and, exhibiting fine soldierly qualities, was appointed a Brigadier General, December 20, 1861.

Early in the following year, General Palmer, in command of a division, took part in the laborious operations and brilliant successes of General John Pope against New Madrid and Island No. 10. In the reduction of Island No. 10, General Palmer held the most difficult position and performed the most important and soldierly services throughout. Pope moved against Fort Pillow after the success of New Madrid, but was ordered to join Halleck, besieging Corinth. There were many fine exploits by different parts of the army during this noted siege, but none was, perhaps, more brilliant than General Palmer's affair near Farmington, on the 8th of May, when, with a brigade of troops, he fairly repulsed three divisions of rebels, inflicting upon them heavy losses, and extricating his command from a dangerous position with brilliant dash and con-After a considerable illness, General Palmer was assigned to the command of the first division of the Army of the Mississippi, and ordered to join General Buell. His services in Tennessee were more valuable than brilliant, whether in the field, or sustaining, with Negley, the "blockade" of Nashville. In the great contest known as the battle of Stone River, General Palmer acted a brilliant part. His division, during several hours of the 31st of December, held the advance of the right wing, and stood like a rock, whilst other portions of that part of the army were swept away by the rebels. highly intelligent correspondent of the Chicago Tribune newspaper, in an exhaustive narrative of this remarkable battle, justly attributed a high measure of praise to General Palmer for the bravery, endurance, and skill with which he held his position and saved the day on his part of the lines.

In the last pitched battle in which Rosecrans held the chief command of the Union troops, it is sufficient here to say that Palmer commanded a division under General George H. Thomas—"the Rock of Chickamauga," against which the gates of rebeldom did not prevail. Soon after this battle, Rosecrans was relieved, and Grant soon fought the great battle of Chattanooga, which effectually broke the backbone of the rebellion. In the great operations of General Sherman in 1864, General Palmer, who had been made a Major General of Volunteers for gallantry at Stone River, had command of the Fourteenth Army Corps until after the fall of Atlanta, when he asked to be relieved. To give a complete sketch of his life during this stirring period, would be to give a pretty full view of the bravest campaign of the war, with which his command was so honorably and prominently connected. His subsequent military administration of the affairs of Kentucky was a manifestation of soldierly and statesmanlike qualities which have not often been combined in one person.

ILLINOIS STATE INSTITUTIONS.

STATE NORMAL UNIVERSITY.

NORMAL, McLEAN COUNTY.

This is an institution for the education of teachers for the Public Schools of the State. The law establishing it received the Governor's approval on the 18th day of February, 1857. It is governed by a board, known as the "Board of Education of the State of Illinois," consisting of fifteen members. The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is, ex-officio, a member and the Secretary. The other fourteen members are appointed by the Governor and approved by the Senate, the term of office being six years. One-third of the fourteen, or as near it as may be, go out of office every two years, so that only one-third of the board is changed at any one time, except in case of resignations. Every county in Illinois is entitled to gratuitous instruction for two pupils, and every representative district for one. Instruction is given in language, science, mathematics, and especially in the theory and practice of teaching. Every student receiving gratuitous instruction is required to sign a written pledge to teach in Illinois.

Beside the professional school just referred to, there is a school for general culture, called the Model School. In this, tuition fees are charged. The classes in the Model School are taught, to a great extent, by the pupils of the professional department. The Model School has three grades: The High School, with an extended and thorough course of linguistic and scientific studies; the Grammar School; the Intermediate and Primary School.

THE ILLINOIS INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND DUMB.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN COUNTY.

Was incorporated February 23d, 1839. The act of incorporation was prepared by Hon. O. H. Browning, of Adams county, and located the Institution at Jacksonville, Illinois. None of the original members of the Board of Directors are now connected with the Institution. The school was opened in 1846, by Mr. Thomas Officer, who had shortly before been elected Principal of the Institution. The selection of Mr. Officer was a most happy one, as few persons are so well adapted by temperament, energy, and talent, to inaugurate such an enterprise.

The site of the Institution is an eligible and healthy one, in the suburbs of Jacksonville. The buildings are large, but of late years, very much crowded by the increasing number of pupils who flock to its halls. They are warmed with steam and lighted with gas. The projected water works of the city of Jacksonville will shortly furnish the Institution with an abundant supply of water, which essential article has heretofore been attainable only in quantities too limited to meet the requirements of an establishment of such magnitude.

In point of efficiency, this Institution is considered equal to any in the country. The Board of Directors, in an enlightened as well as philanthropic spirit of enterprise, have organized a department of articulation, which is as vet experimental, but gives encouraging promise of success.

The Institution comprises a literary and industrial department. The forepart of each day is devoted wholly to the former, and the afterpart to the latter. In the latter, printing, cabinet-making, carpentering, shoemaking, and farming are taught. Female pupils are instructed in needle-work and some kinds of domestic employment.

This Institution is a part of the educational system of the State, and admits pupils from Illinois as the common schools of the State do their scholars, free of charge. There have been seven hundred and forty pupils enrolled since its organization. The actual attendance at the present time is two hundred and forty-five.

The Board of Directors consists of the following gentlemen: Hon. Robert Beal, of Peoria county, President; Hon. Jno. A. Chestnut, of Sangamon county; Wm. P. Barr, of Morgan county; Philip G. Gillett, of Morgan county, Secretary.

All communications respecting the admission of pupils, or on business of the Institution, should be addressed to Philip G. Gillett, A. M., Principal, Jacksonville, Illinois.

The officers of the Institution are,

ILLINOIS INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE BLIND.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN CO.

The State of Illinois, by act of the Legislature, Approved January 13, 1849, made appropriations, and authorized the purchase of not less than ten, nor more than forty acres of ground in or near Jacksonville, Illinois. In this act it was defined to be the object and duty of the corporation "to qualify, as far as practicable, that unfortunate class of persons for the enjoyment of the blessings of a free government, obtaining the means of subsistence, and the discharge of those duties, social and political, devolving upon American citizens."

All blind persons residing in Illinois, of suitable age and capacity to receive instruction, are to be received and taught in the Institution. The pupils are, at the expense of the State, to be taught, furnished with books, boarding, lodging, &c.

February 3, 1849, the Board of Trustees organized by the election of the Hon. Samuel D. Lockwood as President, and James Berdan as Secretary

Twenty-two acres, on which the Institution is now located, were purchased at seventy-five dollars per acre, on May 12, 1849. The officers of the Board of Trustees, as well as of the school department, have seldom been changed. Hon. S. D. Lockwood, now of Batavia, acted as President of the Board of Trustees, until his removal from Jacksonville, March 14, 1853.

Matthew Stacy, Esq., was unanimously elected to succeed him as President, on March 14th, 1853, and has continued to preside over the Institution to this time—a period of over sixteen years.

Three hundred and fifty blind have been admitted, and provided by the State of Illinois with instruction and support. Two hundred and seventy have left, having completed their course of instruction and returned to their homes. Some of them have become valuable members of society and useful citizens.

The buildings erected in 1849–53 were commodious and amply furnished with every article conducive to the welfare of the Blind. On April 20th, 1869, the building caught fire in the attic, from a defect in a smoke flue, and in a few hours became a mass of ruin. Since that event, from insurance money, &c., received, a building finally intended to become a wing to a completed building is almost finished, and we hope to open school in it in January, 1870. Illinois opens her benevolent Institutions to all her citizens who may be the children of sorrow, without respect to their worldly position. The child of misfortune and want is seated at the same table, and partakes of the same instruction, as the child of the owner of thousands of acres of its fertile prairies.

The officers of this Institution are the following:

Trustees.—Matthew Stacy, President; Wm. A. Grimshaw, E. B. Hawley.
Superintendent.—Joshua Rhoads, M. D.
Matron.—Rosanna I. Rhoads.

Assistant Matron.—Ada Roberts. Teachers.—John Loomis, Literature; Fanny Maginnis, Literature; A. E. Wimmerstedt, Music; Peter Dunlap, Manual Labor.

ILLINOIS INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN CO.

This institution was organized by act of Legislature, in 1865, as an "Experimental School for the instruction and training of idiots and feeble-minded children in the State of Illinois."

It is located at Jacksonville, on leased property (the late Governor Duncan's estate), and is under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Illinois Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb.

Officers of the Institution.—C. I. Wilbur, M. D., Superintendent; Mrs. L. P. Wilbur, Matron; Miss S. Lucelia Robinson, Teacher; Miss Mate Stoddard, Teacher; Miss Alice E. Brainard, Teacher; John Donavan, Clerk.

The institution has been in operation nearly five years. There are now three hundred applications for the admission of pupils on file at the institution, and sixty-five pupils present.

The appropriation for its support is twenty thousand dollars per annum. No board or tuition is charged during the regular school term, and it is the aim of the managers to have each Senatorial District of the State fairly represented.

Custodial cases are not received, but only children who are susceptible of improvement.

The school rooms are furnished with desirable apparatus for illustration, and the whole plan of the exercises is designed to attain for each pupil the highest mental and physical development possible, and by the most rapid progress.

Applications for admission should be sent to—and information in relation to the institution can be obtained by addressing—Dr C. T. Wilbur, Supt. Institution for Feeble Minded Children, Jacksonville, Ill.

ILLINOIS SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME.

NEAR NORMAL, MCLEAN CO.

The Illinois Soldiers' Orphans' Home was incorporated by an act of the Legislature, approved February 16th, 1865, and subsisted entirely upon private charity until, by an act approved March 5th, 1867, a certain fund in the hands of the Governor, known as the "deserters' fund," was donated to the Home and further appropriations also made. Commissioners, appointed under the last named act by the Governor, located the Home on a high and commanding section of land, donated by Judge David Davis, adjoining the thriving village of Normal, Ill. A better selection could hardly have been made; beautiful, healthy, with fine railroad advantages. The building is a splendid looking structure, built in the Romanesque style of architecture, three stories of brick, with a basement of stone. It is plain, but substantial in finish, more attention being given to such arrangements as would secure the comfort and health of its inmates, and to ample space. Before the present "Home" was completed, three temporary ones were established—one at Springfield and two at Bloomington, Ill., and on the 2nd day of June, 1869, the children in these Homes were moved into the new building, and on the 17th day of June, 1869, the "Home" was formally dedicated, Ex-Governor Richard J. Oglesby delivering the dedicatory address. The occasion was one of much interest, and great satisfaction was expressed by the numerous visitors at the admirable arrangement of the different departments of the building, the excellent facilities enjoyed for the care and culture of its inmates, and at its satisfactory and successful management. The building will furnish ample accommodation for three hundred children, and there are now in the institution two hundred and seventy inmates, with numerous applications on file with the Secretary.

The Board of Trustees consists of Col. James M. Beardsley, of Rock Island, President; Col. John M. Snyder, of Springfield, Secretary; and Hon. Jesse A. Willson, of Bloomington, Treasurer.

The officers of the Home are Mrs. Col. S. P. Ohr, Superintendent; Miss Mary A. Hughes, Assistant Superintendent; Mr. John S. Clark, Steward; Dr. John Sweeney, Physician.

The teachers are Mrs. Clara E. Watts, Miss Emma M. Plummer, Miss Louisa Ray, and Miss Mary J. Abraham.

LINCOLN'S MANSION
IN SPRINCFIELD, ILLS.

ILLINOIS SOLDIERS ORPHANS HOME.

As is known to all, this is an institution erected by the people of the State of Illinois—a lasting monument of their generosity and their patriotism, whose object it is to receive in sacred trust the indigent orphan children of those who, going from our own State, with their lives in their hands, periled all, and in defense of our common country's life, lost all, but honor. It is no ordinary obligation we are under to protect their homeless, friendless little ones, but our highest privilege, as well as our most sacred duty, and one which should animate every loyal citizen of our noble State, who appreciates the heroism they manifested, and enjoys the blessings of a government they saved.

THE ILLINOIS SOLDIERS' COLLEGE.

FULTON, WHITESIDE CO., ILL.

The Illinois Soldiers' College was founded at Fulton, Ill., by patriotic citizens of the State, at the close of the war of the Rebellion, for the purpose of securing to the disabled soldiers and to the orphans of deceased soldiers the benefits of a thorough and practical education. It was intended to make the Institution a MONUMENTAL College—a MEMORIAL of the patriotism, courage and intelligence of Illinois Soldiers, and of the justice, honor and appreciative gratitude of her citizens. Splendid and costly hospitals, and homes and retreats and asylums, have been built for the soldiers all over the world, but the people of Illinois established for them a College. The College was opened for the reception of students, September 12th, 1866. In February, 1867, the Legislature of Illinois granted to the College a liberal charter, and made an appropriation to it of twenty-five thousand dollars a year for two years to assist in educating the disabled soldiers and orphans of the State. The Legislature of 1869 renewed the appropriations. The people of the State have contributed to the College, to purchase the buildings and support the disabled soldiers and orphans, about ninety-five thousand dollars. During the first year after the opening of the College there were in attendance 168 students, during the second year 250, and during the third year 257. The number for the current year will be about the same as for the last two years. The College accommodates with board and rooms 250 students.

Each county in the State has the right to appoint from two to four orphans or disabled soldiers to scholarships in the College. Tuition in all branches, board, and furnished rooms are free to such appointees. The preparatory course occupies two years—the scientific, four. One hundred and three different Illinois regiments were represented in the College last year.

Faculty.—Leander H. Potter, A. M., President of the College, Professor of Mental and Moral Science; Charles W. Feeks, A. M., Professor of Mathematics, Military and Commercial Science; Rev. Geo. W. Woodward, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages; Rev. Olin Mattison, Professor of Natural Science; Moses Soule, A. M., Instructor in Language; William H. Brydges, Instructor in Mathematics and Natural Science; John O. Garmon, Instructor in Penmanship.

ILLINOIS STATE HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

JACKSONVILLE, MORGAN CO.

The institution was founded by an act of incorporation passed March 1, 1847. Its origin was largely due to the labors and solicitations of that eminent friend of the insane, Miss D. L. Dix, who, in a memorial addressed to the General Assembly, pointed out the imperative necessity existing for such an institution, enforcing her appeal by many moving facts, gathered after visiting most parts of the State, and witnessing the deplorable condition of the insane, as a class, in the State. The first Superintendent was Dr. J. M. Higgins, elected August He resigned in March, 1854, when the institution was, for some months, under the care of Dr. H. K. Jones, as Superintendent pro tem. The present Superintendent, Dr. Andrew McFarland, was elected June, 1854, and re-elected June, 1864.

Attached to the institution is a farm of one hundred and sixty acres, in a high state of cultivation-a portion of it being laid out into vegetable and fruit gardens, lawns, and pleasure grounds. The entire capacity of the institution is for four hundred and fifty patients. The number at present is, on account of inadequate revenue, limited to about four hundred and twelve. government of the institution is vested in a board of six trustees, appointed by the Governor of the State. The present trustees are:

E. G. Miner, Scott county, President; J. T. Eccles, Montgomery county; F. A. Hoffman, DuPage county; Fernando Jones, Cook county; I. L. Morrison, Morgan county; (vacancy). E. P. Kirby, Secretary and Treasurer.

Andrew McFarland, M. D., Superintendent and Physician; H. A. Gilman, M. D., (vacancy), Ass't Physicians; C. A. Barker, Clerk; Miss Mary Johnston, Matron; Mr. D. H. Hall, Male Supervisor; Mrs. Isabella Hall, Mrs. Nancy McCartney, Supervisoresses.

The number of attendants upon the patients, and of all others engaged in the service of the institution, is about seventy.

The entire cost of the institution, including lands, buildings, stock, fixtures, and furniture, has been not far from $600,000. The annual expense of its maintenance is about $110,000. About three-fourths of this is paid by the State, and the remainder is derived from the board of pay-patients. This latter is an assessed rate, made according to the ability of parties, and ranging from $1.50 to $7 per week.

ILLINOIS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY.

The University is located between the contiguous cities of Urbanafand Champaign, 128 miles from Chicago, on the Chicago branch of the Illinois Central Railroad. It was first opened for the reception of students on Monday, the 2d day of March, 1868. It was further enriched by the donation of Champaign county, of farms, buildings, and bonds, valued at $400,000.

The main University building is of brick, one hundred and twenty-five feet in length, and five stories in height. Its public rooms are sufficient for the accommodation of over four hundred students, and it has private study and sleeping rooms for one hundred and twenty.

The University domain, including ornamental and parade grounds, experimental and model farms, gardens, etc., comprises over one thousand acres of land. The chief aim of the University is "THE LIBERAL AND PRACTICAL EDU-CATION OF THE INDUSTRIAL CLASSES in the several pursuits and professions in life."

ILLINOIS STATE PENITENTIARY.

JOLIET, WILL COUNTY.

The erection of the new State Penitentiary was authorized by an act of the legislature, approved February 19, 1857. The location was made in the same year at Joliet. The work was immediately taken up, and in 1859 part of the convicts were removed from the old State Penitentiary at Alton to Joliet. As the work progressed, convicts were added until the building was completed, when the Alton Penitentiary was given up.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS NORMAL UNIVERSITY.

CARBONDALE, JACKSON COUNTY.

This University was established by an act of the Legislature, approved March 9, 1869, and has been located by the Trustees on a site one-half a mile south of the centre of the city of Carbondale, Jackson county.

The site fronts fifty-four rods on the Illinois Central Railroad on the west side; it rises rapidly to the west to the height of forty or fifty feet above the Railroad level, and is both beautiful and commanding.

Carbondale is 56 miles north of Cairo, and is a thriving centre of trade for the southern portion of the State, being situated at the junction of Mt. Carbon Railroad with the Ill. Central. The contract to erect the University building, which is to be 208 by 108 feet 6 inches large, and two stories high, with Mansard roof and basement, has been let to J. M. Campbell. It is to be delivered to the Trustees, ready for occupation, on Sept. 1, 1871.

The Board of Trustees are Eli Bouyer, of Olney, President; Thomas W. Harris, of Shelbyville; Daniel Hurd of Cairo; Samuel E. Flannigan, of Benton, Secretary; and Elihu J. Palmer, of Freeburg, Building Superintendent.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL FOR JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

PONTIAC, LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

This noble State Institution was established by act of the Legislature of 1867, amended in 1869. The Trustees are: Hon. Samuel Moulton, of Shelbyville; L. A. Parks, of Alton; William Reynolds, of Peoria; John Early, of Rockford; Solon Kendall, of Geneseo; M. E. Collins, of Pontiac; and Wm. J. Yost, of Metropolis city. Jonathan Duff, of Pontiac, Treasurer; Valentine Jobst, of Peoria, Architect; Bloomington Manufacturing Co., Contractors.

This Institution was located July 7, 1869, at Pontiac, in Livingston county. The city of Pontiac gave $25,000 and the county of Livingston $50,000, in bonds, to secure the location; also the Chicago and Alton Railroad gave $5,000 in freights, and Jesse W. Fell & Bro., lands valued at $10,000. The Trustees purchased, in addition, other lands, making in all a beautiful tract of 172 acres adjoining Pontiac. The building is to be of stone and brick. The main central building will be 67 feet square, with wings 45 feet long, 35 feet wide on each side. The grounds and building, when fully ready for occupation, will cost about $150,000. The building is under contract, and it is the expectation of the Trustees to have it ready for pupils by Dec. 25, 1870.

Much credit is due to the hearts that conceived, and the heads and hands that are executing this noble work. It is to be hoped that it may soon be completed, and forever remain as an enduring monument of the progress and Christian civilization of the age.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS HOSPITAL AND ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.

This Institution was created by an act of the Legislature, approved April 16, 1869. The Commissioners located the same upon a beautiful site just south of the city of Elgin. It comprises 155 acres fronting upon the Fox river, and rising to the west evenly and rapidly, giving a very fine view of the surrounding country. It is said to be a beautiful and healthy location. The plans are not yet matured, but will, when complete, probably embrace the congregate and cottage system. The Trustees appointed were C. N. Holden, of Chicago; Judge G. W. Pleasants, of Rock Island; and Dr. Oliver Evarts, of Dixon. Judge Pleasants having since resigned, Henry Sherman, from Elgin, was appointed by the Governor to fill his place. The erection of the building will undoubtedly go on in the spring.

NATIONAL LINCOLN MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

SPRINGFIELD.

This Association filed its Certificate of Incorporation with the Secretary of State on May 11, 1865. The object of it is to construct a monument to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, in the city of Springfield.

The Association had, in December, 1869, about $155,663 46, contributed from various sources. The monument is now being erected in Oak Ridge Cemetery, at Springfield, where the remains of the patriot and statesman have been deposited. The design, which will be found in this book, was drawn by Larkin G. Meade. William Richardson was awarded the contract to erect and complete the architecture of the monument, including the entire work, except the statuary.

So far the foundation has been completed. The granite for the superstructure is being cut this winter in Quincy, Mass., and will be delivered in the spring of 1870. The Monument, with the exception of the statuary, will be completed during this year.

The Association, thus far, has incurred liabilities as follows: To W. Richardson, $130,550; to L. G. Mead, $15,200.

The statuary will soon be added, as it is to be hoped that funds enough may be contributed by the patriotic people, to complete this work at an early day.

Members and Officers of the Association.—Richard J. Oglesby, President; Jesse K. Dubois, Vice-President; O. M. Hatch, Secretary; Jas. H. Beveridge, Treasurer; Samuel S. Treat, John T. Stuart, Jacob Bunn, John Williams, Sharon Tyndale, O. H. Miner, Newton Bateman, Jas. C. Conkling, D. M. Phillips, Thos. J. Dennis, S. H. Melvin.

THE NEW STATE HOUSE.

SPRINGFIELD.

The erection of a new State House was provided for by an act of the legislature, approved February 25, 1867. The site was selected and purchased by the city of Springfield, for $70,000, and donated to the State. The original Board of Commissioners adopted the plans of J. C. Cochrane, Architect, of Chicago. Ground was first broken on the 14th day of June, 1868. A perspective of the building is contained in this book.

At the last session of the General Assembly, $650,000 was again appropriated toward the erection of the Capitol. So far the foundation is completed. The work will be taken up again in spring, and will be most vigorously carried on. In the mean time the necessary building material is being prepared for the purpose.

The Board of Commissioners has since been reduced to three, namely: Jacob Bunn, James C. Robinson, and James H. Beveridge, and was organized by the election of Jacob Bunn, President, and James H. Beveridge, Secretary. It has been decided by the board to use the stone from the quarry at Joliet, for the basement story. The cutting will be done in the Penitentiary. J. C. Cochrane is appointed Architect, and Cochrane and Piquenard are the Superintendents of the building.

The authorities of Sangamon county have purchased the present State House for the sum of $250,000, and will take possession of the same as a Court House, as soon as the new Capitol is ready for occupation for the State government.

BOARD OF PUBLIC CHARITIES.

The Board of Commissioners of Public Charities, created by an act of the legislature, approved April 9, 1869, is required to visit all the Public Institutions of the State twice in each year, and authorized to visit them at discretion. It is also required to visit once in each year, all the alms-houses in the State, or other places where the insane may be confined, and to report the result of such inspection, annually, to the Governor. It is also authorized and required to prepare and present to the Governor an estimate of the appropriations necessary for each, at each session of the legislature. It has power to examine records and accounts, and to take sworn testimony.

The general aim of the board is, to secure simplicity, unity, economy and efficiency, in the administration of the public charities of Illinois, and to elevate them to the dignity of a department of the State government; also, to become thoroughly familiar with the general subject of dependence, its forms, its extent, its causes, its cure, the means of prevention, and the relations which ought to exist between governments and the dependent classes; the history of public charity, and the systems and methods of relief practiced in other states and nations, with the results attained in each.

Board and Officers.—Elmer Baldwin, President, Farm Ridge, LaSalle county; George S. Robinson, Sycamore, DeKalb county; Z. B. Lawson, Chesterfield, Macoupin county; Selden M. Church, Rockford, Winnebago county; John N. McCord, M. D., Vandalia, Fayette co.; Fred. H. Wines, Springfield, Secretary.

From the above it will be seen that $67,000 (called in by Governor's proclamation dated November 23, 1869) falls due after 1869, and $3,142,633 41 after 1870, at the pleasure of the State. For the payment of the last named amount there will be about three million dollars in the treasury on the 1st January, 1871, and it will be but a short time thereafter that a sufficient sum will be paid into the treasury on account of the two mill tax on assessment of 1870, to meet the amount of bonds falling due after 1870. This takes up all the debt that can be reached until after 1876, long before which time (by January 1, 1874) the Illinois Central railroad fund will have accumulated in the treasury a sufficiency to meet the debt as it falls due.

It will thus be seen that after one more levy of the two mill tax, the Illinois Central railroad fund will produce a sufficient sum to pay off the principal of the debt, as well as to pay the interest thereon, after July 1, 1871.

I have made no estimate for premium on gold necessary to pay a portion of the indebtedness, the surplus in my estimates being ample for that purpose. Neither have I taken into consideration the amount probable to be paid from the earnings of the Illinois and Michigan canal, applicable to the payment of the registered canal debt, said registered debt being included in the amount of debt, as given in the above statement.

THE STATE LIBRARY.

This institution has only lately been newly renovated. A large number of duplicates of law books have been removed to the basement of the State House in order to make room for new additions. In a short time, a large number of miscellaneous works of the most interesting and valuable kind will be added, which were selected by the State Library Commission (Governor, Secretary of State, and Superintendent of Public Instruction), and which will be paid for with the appropriation of $6,000 made by the 26th General Assembly. By request of the present Secretary of State, the different States have kindly furnished this State with all their laws, reports, and publications not heretofore contained in the State Library.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY OF THE STATE.

This work was authorized by an act of the Legislature passed in February, 1851, providing for the appointment by the Governor of a competent geologist to take charge of the work, and appropriating the sum of three thousand dollars per annum to defray the expenses of the survey.

Dr. J. G. Norwood, of Madison, Indiana, was selected as chief of the survey, and remained in charge of the work up to the 22d of March, 1858. During this time a pamphlet report of ninety-three pages, entitled "An Analysis of Coals," was published.

In 1853, the amount of the annual appropriation was increased to five thousand dollars per annum, with an additional appropriation of five hundred dollars per annum for topographical work.

On the 22d of March, 1858, Prof. A. H. Worthen (the present State Geologist) of Warsaw, Ill., was commissioned by Gov. Bissell to take charge of the Geological Survey, and in 1866 the two first volumes of his report were published, embracing over one thousand pages of printed matter, and illustrated with maps, sections, etc., and fifty plates of fossils. Two years later (in 1868), the third volume was published, embracing nearly six hundred pages of printed matter, together with six plates finely executed on steel, illustrating some of the most interesting scenery in the State, and twenty plates of fossils. The publication of the fourth volume was provided for by the last General Assembly, and is expected to appear in a short time. These volumes have been highly commended by the best scientific authorities, both in this country and Europe, and will impart much practical, as well as scientific information, to those who desire to become acquainted with the natural resources of the State. It is expected that two more volumes, comprising six in all, will complete the work.

The law organizing the survey required extensive collections to be made during the progress of the work, sufficient to supply a set of duplicate specimens of all common species to each collegiate institution in the State, and over twenty of the colleges in the State have been supplied in accordance with the law. A fine museum room has been provided in the new State House, where the State collection is to be finally deposited, and where it is to remain for all time a free museum of science, for the benefit of the people.

Vote of Illinois for 1869, by Counties and Townships.

The vote given in the following pages is a very light one; in many of the counties, not half the votes given at the last Presidential election were polled, and in some counties not even one-third.

In this list, a few counties are omitted, the returns of the respective Clerks having failed to reach us in time for this publication.
